EGGS

All eggs are judged according to the current Australian Poultry Standards.

“ANY OTHER VARIETY” are eggs from birds not being poultry or waterfowl e.g. turkey, guinea fowl

Tinted eggs are any colour other than white or brown and all eggs for that entry should be of the same colour.

Eggs commonly laid by poultry known as Easter Egg layers are still classified as poultry eggs and not classed as a different variety and should be entered into tinted egg classes.

Classes with ‘any one colour’ stated should be the same colour.

“One type” is defined as eggs from the same class of bird.
