Awards

The DIAA and RAHS continue to honour quality, innovation, and excellence in dairy while adapting to industry changes. This year, we received 299 entries, a slight drop from last year, likely affected by the ongoing retail slowdown, inflation, and cautious consumer spending. The recent closure of two South Australian cheese makers, Beston Global and Section 28, also reduced the number of entries, underscoring the importance of supporting local producers and the industry.

Despite the overall decline, some categories grew modestly. White mould and flavoured cheeses showed strong quality and creativity, while washed rind and blue cheeses remained stable despite production challenges. Fresh dairy classes like milk, cream, and yoghurt continued to impress with their quality and purity.

As consumer demand shifts towards premium, local, and clean-label products, awards like these help producers stand out, giving buyers and consumers confidence and opening new market opportunities.

Our skilled judging panels, expanded to three teams this year, included interstate experts and followed a strong development pathway for judges. Thanks to Chief Steward Rachael Stacey for smooth leadership and to the dedicated RAHS Dairy Products Committee and stewards whose work made this event possible.

I look forward to celebrating the champions at the awards dinner.

"This year's competition was our toughest to judge yet — skill levels keep climbing, and entrants continue to raise the bar. Flavours ranged from daring new pairings to flawlessly executed classics, with local and indigenous ingredients adding real depth and identity.

The viral "Dubai chocolate" trend made a strong showing, while others stayed true to tradition with masterful precision. Across the board, creativity, craftsmanship, and flavour excellence were on full display, proving once again that this competition is a showcase for the very best in chocolate."

Chief Judge
